SPEEDS: The MICHELIN tires listed above are capable of sustained speeds up to ISO Speed Rating N (87 mph) "however", no states have speed limits for trucks in excess of 85 mph. Texas and Utah are the only two states that allow 85 mph on designated highways. Speeds in excess of the states designated speed limits are not encouraged and may pose a danger to the driver and other vehicles on the road.

Tire Speed Ratings: Most tires designated for highway use in the United States are rated at 75 mph even though they may be capable of higher speeds. Michelin does not condone nor recommend operating a vehicle at speeds that are in excess of the posted lawful speed limit.
